Search Continues For Outstanding Women of the Year

Put on your thinking caps and come up with a candidate for the first annual "Women of the Year" contest sponsored by the Torrance Press. The search is on for outstanding leaders in five separate fields: PTA, Social and Philanthropic, Business and Professional, Civic and Cultural, and Church. Any woman who lives in Torrance, or who has confined her activity to the circulating area of the Torrance Press, is eligible for one of the five awards.

If your club hasn't nominated anyone, get on the phone, call your friends, and come up with a candidate. If you don't know whom to nominate, start thinking and talking about a possibility in one of the five fields. Winners will not be restricted to contributions made during the past year only, but outstanding work at any time will be considered. Not only can clubs and organizations submit a candidate, but individuals, not affiliated with any group, may enter providing their contributions fall into one of these categories. If you have already submitted a nominating entry blank, now is the time to compose that all-important letter of recommendation.

Forget to return a Nominating Entry blank? That, by no means, disqualifies you or your club from entering the contest. The main thing to do now is concentrate on writing a letter of recommendation describing your candidate. This will be the Final Entry and will be judged by prominent women in the community whose names will remain undisclosed. It should be a typewritten account emphasizing the reasons for nominating your candidate as 'Outstanding Woman of the Year' in her field. Absolute deadline for returning this letter will be May 15.

Don't waste any time returning the Final Entries to the Press. It will be to your advantage to return them as soon as possible so that the board of judges will not be rushed in their decision. All five winners will be guests of the Torrance Press at an invitational luncheon, May 23, at which time trophies will be awarded. Also on that day, individual pictures and stories will appear in the Press describing the winners and reasons for selection as "Outstanding Woman of the Year" in one of the five fields. Don't forget the contest deadline: May 15.

Also, in line with the international organization's slogan for the year, "Service and Understanding—a Bridge to Peace," the members of the club have been individually mailing magazines to foreign universities in cooperation with the "Magazines for Friendship" program of Occidental college, Los Angeles.

A special committee of the local club, under the leadership of Mrs. Herma Tillim, is currently serving on the funds campaign of the Little Company of Mary hospital. They are Mmes. Gerald Cork, J. Frank Higgins, C. B. Mitchell, John Whittington, and Miss Mae Sleep.
